Indiana University has a long-standing exchange program with Christian Albrechts University in Kiel, Germany. From September 7-10, Dr. Karin Peschel, Rector of the university, visited the Bloomington campus to talk with faculty and administrators, and paid a courtesy call to IU President Myles Brand.

In June, a recognition ceremony was held for the 44 Malaysian students who had spent the year in IU Bloomington's pre-academic training and placement program known as the “ATU Program,” administered by OIP’s Center for International Education and Development Assistance (CIEDA). Pictured here are some of the students checking last-minute paperwork prior to their departure for some of the top U.S. academic institutions.

IU Polish Studies Director Tim Wiles and Mary McGann (University of Indianapolis) visited Warsaw University in May and June to tour the new facilities of the American Studies Center (ASC), Indiana University’s exchange partner in Poland for the past 18 years. The visit marked Dr. McGann’s first return to Poland since the mid-1980s, when she served as IU’s Associate Director of ASC. They met with center directors and IU-Warsaw alumni, and Dr. Wiles completed arrangements for the new Masters degree program in Entrepreneurship and Public Management to be coordinated at the Center by IU’s School of Business. Pictured in front of Warsaw University’s American Studies Center is Krzysztof Michalek, Warsaw University Professor of American History. Dr. Michalek, who served as Associate Director of IU’s Polish Studies Center from 1992-94, assumed duties as ASC Director this fall.
